The "experts" who released a publicity story about the 20 acre tri-ward (Eastmont Belvedere and Montebello) Victory garden being the largest in the west shouldn't have included the state of Utah in their territorial claim. Breaking simultaneously with the local news release was a page story in the Deseret News of an EIGHTY ACRE Victory Garden operated by the Ensign Stake. "There are planted, or in the process of planting: 20 acres of sugar beets, 10 acres of potatoes, 5 acres of tomatoes, 5 acres of garden vegetables, 4 acres of sweet corn, 15 acres of wheat, 10 acres of oats, 8 acres of alfalfa." Anyhow, the California 20 acre project can claim a greater variety of foodstuffs under cultivation... and a better climate???

From Twin Falls, Idaho, comes a story of a fish refuting a fish story. Frank Walters was telling the boys about the BIG one which had broken away with his spinner and leader as he fished in a nearby mountain stream. As the boys listened, Frank got another strike and pulled in a beautiful but tiny six inch trout... hanging from its mouth were Frank's lost spinner and leader!

CORRECTION CORNER We went a little astray in our figures for the Era Subscription campaign reported in last issue, giving South L. A. stake credit for securing 2978 subscriptions (Southern States Mission total) instead of 1545 the correct total. Then, we took away from their per cent of quota total and gave them credit for 393.3% (again quoting the record of the Southern States Mission) instead of the correct 403.5%, they rightly earned, tops for stakes in the Church. For those of you keeping a chart please make these two changes and you'll have the right answer.

"BY THEIR FRUITS" Local government officials are enthusiastic about the "Mormon Welfare plan," and are rating our people right at the top of the list when special consideration is to be given the public. This business of pressure cookers is an example at hand. Coming through the Stake President to the Bishops, applications for cookers for L. D. S. groups in the Southern California region are being given first attention by the g.m. Indications point that the welfare projects will be sufficiently supplied with cookers.

MILLENNIAL STAR, oldest Church publication, suspends publication as a weekly and becomes a monthly magazine. Beginning as a Mission organ in England in 1840 the Star has had many illustrious editors, among whom are the members of the Council of the Twelve who have presided over the European Mission during the past century.

A large audience gave its heart to gifted Reid Nibley at his last concert before donning the uniform of the United States Army. He played Friday evening, June 4th, at the Inglewood stake center and the following Monday reported for induction.

His mastery of Chopin indicated that he should go far as an exponent of that loved composer. Well received, too, were the Debussy Preludes, the delicate "La terrasse des audiences du clair de lune" and piquant "General Lavatine-eccentric."

Young Nibley's program was well rounded and displayed his fine artistry and understanding. His Bach and Schumann numbers were brilliantly executed, as were the two Schostakovich preludes. Two encores were also Schostakovich compositions.
